Germany's "Naval Triumph." How Count Reventlow can shut his eyes to these things we fail to comprehend, but inevitably there must come a day when the German people will be asking to what end they have been taxed for the upkeep of these possessions and to what purpose the expensive navy has fulfilled its stewardship. And, to go further, had the British Navy not fired a single gun Pince August last year, its work. in choking, five, million, tone of German shipping, in saleguarding that of the Allies, in escorting great armies from Britain to France and Turkey and troops from each of the four corners of the earth, without the loss of a single ... troopship, constitutes a record for the British navy to be troud of-and in addition to all this the much vaunted German navy has been bottled up in Kiel; harbour in constant dread of any day having to show its nose on the open sea. When German ships come cut to sea they will find the British navy ready as in the days of Nelson to give them all the fight they want, and more than that they will find British submarines, whose officers and crews are not behind their foes in daring and rescurce.

Daily Press. Novelists as War Experts.

All writers are interesting when they write of what they know by personal observation, and Mr. Bennett's studies of life in the Potteries, if not great literature, are eminently readable. His limitations, however, become plainly discernible when he passes from things which he knows to things which he knows not. His fertile imagination can invent a thousand details, but he lacks the power to give them the glamour of reality and he becomes prolix -a fatal fault. It is probably Mr. Bennett's facility with his his training as a journalist which have drawn the war. into was a subject teeming with possibilities in the way of journalism, from which great stores of "copy "could be obtained. So Mr. Bennett commenced to inform the public, among other things, of the reason for the recent political crisis, which was due to placing a military man at the head of a State Department and so on spread over two columns of what, in the end, must be considered as mere verbiage. Mr. Bernett and Mr. Wells; have, of course, a periect right to utter their views and, as they; are. probably well paid for uttering them, no one can blame them for doing to. All that we contend for is that their remarks should be taken at their face value. "The fact that they are popular novelists does not meen that they are endowed with superior insight icto allathe sots and sciences of life.

Ohina Hail, Italy's Coal Supply.

It has been stated on Swiss authority that for the Italian Government alone eight goods trains with coal from the Rheinish-Westphalia coal district passed daily through Switzerland. The war naturally put an immediate stop to this source of supply and some curiosity is felt in many quarters as to from where Italy will now be able to obtainheringreased requirements for naval and military purposes, railway transport, &: England, it is surmised, cannot spare enough, and as a matter of fact Italy's imports of British coal of late baye fallen materially short of the average. In November 1914, the imports to Italy from England of coal amounted to 603,000 tons, against 784,000 tons for the same month in the preceding year; whilst the figure. for January, 1915, was 470,000 tons, agains 791,000 tons for the or responding month of the previous year. What with France and Russia's requirements of English coal, German papers express the opinion that there cannot be very much left for Italy.

HONGKONG, TUESDAY, AUGUST 3, 1915.

MR. BALFOUR AND COUNT REVENTLOW.

There are few of us who, if we might choose our adversary in a war of words, would be unwise enough to fix our choice on Mr. Balfour. No Britisher living is more thoroughly master of that when anything of the sort seems chai, for allowing his dog abroad these will be of territory (for the munes, have also to be taken into 1 Sergeant and 6 men. Portuform of scarifying retort that is so much more effective because it rather "big" and manly. The without having its muzzle on. time being, should need arise) of account, such as State domains, guese 2 Sergts, and 12 men, is so unexceptionably well bred. If Count Reventlow knew his record as well as most of the older members of the House of Commons know it, Mr. Balfour is caltainly the last man in the world whose criticism on his literary efforts he would be likely to invite. The Count, it seems, has distinguished himself by the publication of an article which he calls "A Year of Naval Warfare," and, unless his skin is thicker than that of even the average Prussian, he is now probably wishing that his performance had not been submitted to the merciless judgment of this scrupulously polite British Cabinet

It seems a little late in the day now for Count Reventlow to be at the trouble of making Britain responsible for the war. There was a time when such doings formed an amiable pastime for Germans whose hands were not sufficiently full, but we had quite thought that the amusement was now out of fashion-except of course, as far as the Emperor William, in his hours of religious exaltation, is concerned. Mr. Balfour tells the Count, ever so sweetly, that he would really so much rather not discuss this threadbare question: and then proceeds to put a gentle extinguisher on our German friend's talk about Britain's having failed to induce the enemy's fleet to come out of its skulking hole and enter upon a fair, standup fight for once in its life, by the observation that this "German triumph" could have been effected by any fool. Before his adversary has time to recover from such an unpleasant little thrust, this uncultured Britisher throws out a few unpalatable facts as to what actually has happened in the sea conflicts—such as they were between the two countries, and a contemptuous reminder as to how men of honour regard such feats as the bombardment of peaceful and undefended coast towns at Home. Then, by way of a final stab, he observes that there is nothing essentially German about submarines except the employment of them against harmless and undefended trading and fishing vessels." This use, he admits, certainly is German-"purely German."

dunderheaded German person, there is a message to the enemy as a whole, there is also one to Britishers. He has, as even his greatest enemies admit, never been a member of the ready-lying, glib-promising school of politicians; and that fact, in face of what he has said in reply to Count Reventlow's lumbering arguments, should bring no small comfort, at the present moment, to those Britishers who peraist either in taking a gloomy view of the Allies' position or else in regarding every telegram, no matter what its source, as a transparent lie. Mr. Balfour does not deal in lies, and therefore we should to life. He was the traditional machinery in motion for the take his statement as to the position of our fleet and the doing of its units since war broke out as being the literal and unornsmented truth. It is well, too, that all of us should be reminded of what the fleet is doing at the present moment. We in Hongkong are so used to finding the merchandise ordered from Home, the mails eto., arriving as safely as ever, that we are more than likely to forget by whose agency this safety is guaranteed. Mr. Ballour finishes on the note that is the prevailing for that matter, has his implied his ricksha. It was found to be on the phone, Fir." he said to owing to Germany from abroad, the peace negotiations will there in the nublic speaches at Home. "There will be no velocity the peace negotiations will the nublic speaches at Home." Not only at Home, but all over the property of the humble and poor. ling a thing a Empire is this the first and last word to-day. Britsin has entered upon a task which her national honour inexorably forced upon her: and she has no more intention of abandoning it till justice is done if the world would have lost any. and right established than she has of turning treaty-breaker herself.

A Reward Deserved. The other day a China e from Canton arrived in the Colony having in his possession come valuable jewellery. He engaged a ricksha coolie to take him to an PEARLOHAIN OF ALL VIRTUES .address in Yaumati and, arriving Blacop Hull. at his destination, absent mindedly left the parcel of valuables in the vehicle. When, later, he discovered his loss, he communicated with the police and effered a reward for the finding of the jewellery. We wonder if he was line. surprised that the coolie eventually turned up smiling with 'the goods" and affably claimed the leward, or if he regarded it the average ricksha puller will reading matter. To-day never die of "the disease will be 344 published. that children get in Sunday school books", but he is certainly as honest as some of his European neighbours. Indeed the raw coolie who comes to Hongkong from the country is often quite until he has been under the influence of the town-dwelling Chinese. One often feele, too, that the dishonesty of the Chinese servant class is greatly exaggerated in any case. Of course there is a lot in the tradition accepted Closing prices: among the older Europeans here: Your boy will rob you, but won't allow other people to do so;" yet, if we could have the joint "testimony of those who know the Colony best and have had wide experience of native servants, we should probably gle:n from it that the Chinese employee is as reliable as others -and considerably more so than Karachi Freights. In the Karachi treight market report it is stated that in some quarters the progress of the monsoon is regarded as less favourable. Holders of feeding stuffs of all kinds are firm in their ideas of values, and the export business is ascordingly limited. The rates of freight continue at about 40. but at this rate several ports are rigidly excepted, unless charterers. take the risk of discharge within a stipulated period and pay heavy demurrage for detention.

Sugar Freights. A communication to the Federal Sugar Co., New York, from England states that the government has commandeered a large fleet of steamers to carry its purchases of August-September Java sugars to Great Britain, and that it is paying only a little over half the prevailing market rate for freight room. This will enable the government to avoid raising the prices to the consuming public.

RUSSIAN FRONT GENERALLY UNSHAKEN.

VON MACKENSEN DEFEATING HIS OWN ENDS.

August 2, 2.40 p.m.

A semi-official statement from Petrograd says: The Russian front generally is unshaken but there are deep reasons demanding our withdrawal from the advanced Polish theatre. The abandonment of territory will not be a prolonged fact. The enemy not obstructing the withdrawal shows how his strength is being reduced to impotence through exhaustion. The initiative remains on our side. Unofficial accounts ascribe the stateness of General von Macken-sen's best troops, who are unable to harass the settring Russians, to Von Mackensen's pitiless pressure in sending them forward, in light order, with only reserve rations and allowing them little sleep.

What the Russians had to confront during the past month is evident from the fact that the Germans had 300 machine gans per Road was completely blown down, member for Dundee-(Mr. Wilkie). 1,000 men, and when the Russians drove the Germans from the third and the roof was taken off the and fourth lines of trenches they found in the rear another army of quarters occupied by Chinese field gans, besides hundreds of guns concealed in trees.

IF GERMANY WON!

U. S. WOULD THEN HAVE TO CONFRONT HER.

August 2, 2.40 p.m.

American newspapers in their articles on the war anniversary recognise that the victory of Germany would mean that the United States, as representatives of freedom, of Government would have to confront her. The New York World pays a tribute to the British Navy and says that but for it Germany would now be master of the world. The New York Times says that Germany's material losses during the war are nothing, compared with her moral losses, and she is now without a friend in the world. The Hohenzollerns and Germany is damned forever.

The station of the French Tramway and Electric Lighting Company continued to supply current to consumers without interruption in the General District throughout Wednesday, and at night, and the continuous service was of special advantage to the French wireless station which was able to render valuable assistance to ships at sea. ## THEATRE ROYAL,

"The Message From Mars."

The fact that, night after night, a reasonably good audience is collecting at the Thears Royal, even in these hard times, is sufficient testimony to the local popularity of the Howitt-Phillips Company. Last night the play was the unfailingly popular "Message from Mars" and its production and acting reflected very great credit on all -the more so that it is not play that comes easily within the scope of a touring company. Mr. Howitt, as the selfish man who has so much to learn about his neighbours and whom only adversity can teach, was distinetly good, and so was Mr. Jack Elagert the mysterious Messenger whose operations have so salutary an effect on the hero's subsequent outleo's on life. Miss Lilian "Stanbridge, as the maiden nunt, gave yet another proof of her wonderful versatility, and Miss Doris Paillips was distinotly happy in her part as Minnie, the sweetheart, while the other characters in the drama also performed most excellently. To-night's performance will be Bella Donna.

Trade of Chosen.

The irade of Obosen for June last amounts to Y9.920.000 in value of which imports represent Y5.740,000 and exports Y4,-180,000. As compared with the corresponding month of last year these figures show an increase of Y1,700,000 in exports and "a; decrease of Y80,000 in imports. The total of imports for the first six months of this year is Y38,-750,000 and that of exports Y22,490,000, indicating an excess of imports to the value of Y16,260,000, as against Y17. 080,000 for the first balf of last. year.

Copper and Lead. On the London Metal Exchange on June 7, copper and lead scored substantial advances. and there was a further recovery in tin, but from again weakened. Mesere, Lewis Lazarus and Sons report that, following the lead of New York, standard copper ruled very strong and active, prices rising 35s. to 37s. 6d. per ton. Fully 1.00 tons were sold at £82 10s. to £83 for near_dates, at £82 10s. 3d. to £83 10s. for various July prompts, and at 483 10a. to £84 for August and three months. At the close cash £83 and three was quoted months £84 per ton." In an article on the copper situation the Engineering and Mining Journal, in its issue of the 29th ultimo, remarks that "as for new governing factors, one may be foreseen certainly. That is increasing production. The mines have gradually been resuming full gait, and about the end of June the refineries ought to be getting Laou into step. Later in the year the Shan new Inspiration and Chuquicamata copper will begin to be felt." The New York paper then goes China on to state that "a market factor China whereof the development, is earnestly hoped is increase in con-Bumption for per ceful purposes, especially domestic. There are un- Green Island Cemen mistakable signs of the beginning | Hongkong Electric of this, and, considering the riches | Hongkong Ice Co., that are coming to the United HongkongRope Mfg States, it is hard to see how an ex- Hongkong Tramwa; pansion in our internal business is to be avoided. In so far as the copper trade is concerned, however, it would be better to make a start from a market at 16 and 17 cents than from one that is over 20 cents, for the former is not an extravagant price to pay, and the latter is. Whatever may happen, the copper producers will have no ground for complaint. They have sold a lot of their 1915 output at better than 18 cents, which is a very fine price, and William Powell, Limited. ....$63 they have reason to expect for a above what is commonly regarded as a normal average price." In the East 375 tone of tin were sold at £167 10s. c.i.f., or five guineas per ten above the nominal quotation of a week ago. Here some 800 tons were sold at £165 to £164 for cash and at £164 10s. to £163 15s. for three months, while Mount Bischoff fetched £166 and Straite £169 and £168 per ton cash. Standard closed 50s. up at £164 10. for cash, the three months' price, at £163 15s. per ton, showed a further recovery of 45s, per ton. For August lead £25 was paid, and for September. £25 5s. per ton. The official closing prices were £24 to £25 per ton, as compared with £23 to £23 15s. on Friday. Spelter was unquoted.

RUSSIAN COMMUNIQUE.

FIERCE FIGHTING FOR WARSAW.

August 2, 5.50 s.m.

Reuter's correspondent at Petrograd reports that the official communique records fierce fighting along the whole front, from Courland to south of the town of Cholm, the Russians inflicting heavy losses in many bayonet counter-attacks.

After a desperate two days' battle the Germans succeeded in crossing the river Courland near Bausk and south-east of Mitau. while further south on the Ponievesz roads, half-way between Mitsu and Koyno, the Russians overthrew an advancing German column, took several hundred priconers and captured trenches which were full of enemy dead.

Forious attacks enabled the Germans to cross the Narew river. north-east of Warsaw, but vigorous Russian bayonet counter-attacks drove them back into the bed of the river. The enemy during their second attack largely used asphyriating gases, but made little progress thereby and lost a thousand prironers besides a whole battery of guns.

There was also a flerce and fluctuating battle on Saturday to the south-east of Warsaw; while, between Cholm and the Bug, the Russians, after desperate fighting, retired under the pressure of more numerous enemy. The Austrian communique dwells on the strong Russian counter-attacks south-east of Warsaw and says that while the Rushave begun to retreat further east towards the Bug and German regiments have passed Cholm in pursuit.

WESTERN GERMAN FORCES DEPLETED.

Angust 2, 12.45 p.m. According to Reuter's correspondent at Petrograd a semiofficial message says that the despatch of large German reinforcements from France to the Russian front began in the fourth week | Wel-bai-wel & Tienteln-Per CHEONGof July, when General von Mackensen's army was so seriously hustled, and when the battle of the Narew became protracted. Each Russian success compels the enemy to withdraw a fresh force from the west.

This fact, adds the message, has created fayourable conditions a for active operations by our Allies.
